Bursting with flavour, the region boasts a wide array of producers, artisans and dining experiences. Visitors can immerse themselves in the rich food and drink culture of the region, meet and learn from producers and gain first-hand experience through workshops and on-farm experiences.

This practical toolkit highlights the many food and drink activities and experiences on offer across the Sydney Surrounds South - South Coast NSW region. It will help you understand the region – and its commissionable products – to create unforgettable itineraries for your clients.

SYDNEY SURROUNDS SOUTH - SOUTH COAST NSW

Covering coastal areas to the south of Sydney across to the hinterland and rural villages of the Southern Highlands, a Sydney Surrounds South - South Coast NSW itinerary has endless options.

Over 100 pristine beaches dot the coastline of one of Australia's favourite holiday destinations. The South Coast, stretching from Wollongong in the north to the Sapphire Coast in the south – offers experiences for every traveller, from stunning national parks with amazing bush walks, waterfalls and vistas to the small town charm of coastal villages.

Enjoy the urban hum of Wollongong's emerging dining and drinks scene. Relax into the fishing-village vibe of Kiama, Shellharbour and the Shoalhaven region, offering plenty of fresh seafood – oysters, the local speciality. Wineries, craft breweries and distilleries, farm gates and artisan producer markets also provide opportunities to taste the local flavours and learn.

In the picturesque Southern Highlands plateau, large country estates, farms and vineyards provide abundant world-class local produce. Visitors can explore beautiful flower gardens, browse antique stores, museums and galleries and meet the locals in classic country pubs.

With a temperate climate, think balmy sea breezes in summer and clean crisp air in the winter – it's always a good time to visit.

Food, Drink and Oyster Experiences

Looking for world-class dining in a spectacular location? From the artisan farmers and producers of the highlands to the sustainable seafood of the coast, the NSW South Coast is a foodies delight.

The region boasts over 30 wineries, with cellar doors offering wines ranging from the cool climate varieties of the Southern Highlands to the signature French and warm climate varieties of the Shoalhaven wine region. A burgeoning craft beverage scene features a growing number of small batch breweries and distilleries producing everything from seasonal beers to gins with local botanicals.

The Shoalhaven is the start of the South Coast Oyster Trail which extends through the Sapphire Coast region, showcasing the fresh-from-the-farm-gate Sydney Rock Oyster – prized for its intense, tangy flavour and one of the few indigenous oysters still being farmed.

There are also a range of experiences on offer for visitors to meet the makers and learn more about the amazing array of produce, seafood, wine and beverages across the region.
